

Fizz, Wizz

Act 2    Scene 1

Front of Curtain

SFX: Magic chimes

Enter Fairy Wizz and Fairy Fizz a little worse for wear.
Wizz sings a song very loudly. Fizz is holding a script.

Fizz:                    Ssshhhhh.....much too loud Fairy Wizz, turn your volume low -
My eyes are blurry, my head is banging – Oh woe, woe, woe..!

Wizz:                    What's up sis, was your soda pop just a little too strong?
It's the start of Act 2, I'm practising for the singsong!

Fizz:                    That's not yet! (to audience) Sorry, you're going to have to wait,
Those Babes are still stuck in the wood waiting on their fate.

Wizz:                    Oh yeah! Robin and Marion have rallied together some Merry Men,
While the shady Sheriff thinks he's sorted, his plan is set and then...

Fizz:                    (looking at script) He sets off to tell King John that the deadly deed is complete,
It's time to marry Marion and remove John from his seat!
But he doesn't know that Sid and Stan have failed in their task.
They didn't kill those Babes in the wood like the Sheriff asked.

Wizz:                    Instead, they ran, leaving the Babes abandoned; on their own,
Scared and tearful and thinking they'd never get back home.

Fizz:                    Towards the castle the two villains sped to settle up their score,
Hoping they'd be long gone before the Sheriff found their flaw.

Wizz:                    But that's not what happens! Don't worry audience, we'll intervene,
Have you got a pencil? I'm going to add some changes to the scenes.

Fizz:                    Yes, but first can we go and lie down – you know, just have a little rest.

Wizz:                    What she means is she's had too many bevvies and has lost her zest!
Come on Fairy Fizz, let's get you rested with a nice cup of hot tea.
I've got some writing to do and Robin, he's on a training spree!

They exit